

Dear Sirs,

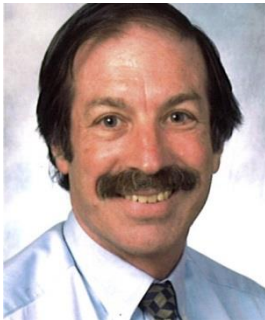

HPV vaccination is a great step forward in terms of cancer prevention. This vaccine is safer than standard vaccines with very few serious side effects and has a substantial impact of cervical cancer precursors which will undoubtedly be translated into reductions in cancer in the near future.

I would encourage the Japanese government to embrace this important advance fully and adopt a natural ideally school based vaccination programme.

I would be happy to provide further details if required

Sincerely

Jack Cuzick, PhD

John Snow Professor of Epidemiology,

Head, Centre for Cancer Prevention

Director, Wolfson Institute of Preventive Medicine

Queen Mary University of London

United Kingdom